Welcome to our ‘new look’

We’re delighted to extend our regular updates on National Police Memorial Day (NPMD) to include more on the work of the Police Remembrance Trust in this newly combined newsletter.

Royal Patronage

Buckingham Palace has announced that His Majesty The King is delighted to retain the patronage of The Police Remembrance Trust.

The Police Remembrance Trust, incorporating National Police Memorial Day (NPMD), is honoured to receive the patronage of The King, who as The Prince of Wales was a committed and involved patron to National Police Memorial Day since 2006.

The news follows a recent review of Royal patronages conducted by the Royal Household, following His Majesty The King’s Accession. More here.

NPMD – Sunday 29th September 2024

If you haven’t already registered to join us in Glasgow for our 21st National Police Memorial Day (NPMD), you can do so by following this link - REGISTER TO ATTEND.

Please note that during the registration process you are asked if you have any requirements for access to the venue and/or assistance once inside - please ensure that you let us know so that we can make the necessary arrangements to support you. You can do this by emailing NPMD@rollofhonour.police.uk.

We’re expecting a full house in the Royal Concert Hall and are looking forward to welcoming everyone - especially those who attend year-on-year.

Your support is truly appreciated and helps ensure this important date in the policing calendar continues to honour police officers throughout the UK who have given their all to protect us.

If you have any queries regarding the booking process, please email NPMD@rollofhonour.police.uk. Everyone is welcome to attend the service.

Fundraising for National Police Memorial Day

We are immensely grateful for the huge efforts that go in to support National Police Memorial Day. Supporters of the charity give much time and energy to raise valuable funds to help sustain this important day for the police family.

One of our staunch supporters is retired Greater Manchester Police Inspector Geoff Taylor who fundraises for the charity by displaying his vintage police Range Rover at a variety of events.

Geoff is pictured here with the High Sheriff of Greater Manchester, at an event hosted by Trafford Veterans.

Geoff helps promote NPMD, taking merchandise displays near and far - we thank Geoff for all he does and the money he has raised.

If this inspires you, please get in touch to discuss ways you can support NPMD - email NPMD@rollofhonour.police.uk.

The Elizabeth Emblem

On 9 March 2024, the Government announced the introduction of a commemorative emblem as a mark of recognition for those who lost their lives in the course of undertaking eligible public service. This includes police officers who are on the roll of honour.

The design incorporates a rosemary wreath, a traditional symbol of remembrance, surrounding the Tudor Crown. It will be inscribed 'For A Life Given In Service' and will have the name of the person to be commemorated inscribed on the reverse of the emblem.

The Emblem will include a pin to allow the award to be worn by the next of kin of the deceased. The grant of The Elizabeth Emblem will be accompanied by a miniature, and may be worn by the recipient at that person's discretion.

If you are the closest surviving next of kin and would like to apply for the emblem, please do so via the Cabinet Office website.

Once your case has been assessed and approved, you have a choice of how the emblem is presented, including via a presentation at a National Police Memorial celebration, should you so wish.

Police Roll of Honour

Incorporated by Royal Charter, the Police Remembrance Trust maintains a record of police officers who lost their lives 'on and in the line of duty', since the earliest of times throughout the UK and Ireland up until 1922.

There are over 5,000 deaths listed in the 'Roll of Honour', and in 2015 the Trust published a book listing all of those who died, entitled the 'UK Police Roll of Remembrance'.

Providing the only authoritative archive of the subject, records will continue to be maintained by the Police Remembrance Trust to commemorate sacrifice in public service.

Visit www.policememorial.org.uk to view our records and commemorations to those lost in service.
